HEALTH INSPECTORS BLAMED.

The Probers Ask for More Time to Make Further Inquiries on the Subject.

ALBANY N. Y., May 1.-The report of the Special Committee headed by Philip W. Reinhard, jr., which has been investigating the "sweat shop" system of New York City, was made to the Legis-ature to-day.

After stating that the Committee held sight sittings and examined ninety-five ses, the report says that in mercentile houses the average working day thirty to forty-five minutes for lunch. On Saturdays during the holidays these hours are increased without extra com-Pensation being paid.

The inspection of mercantile houses by the Board of Education, it says, is not so thorough as the law demands, and it is claimed by the Superintendent of Public Schools that his force of ancy officers is inadequate.

In regard to "sweat-shops," mittee says it has been able to examine enly into the condition of labor em ployed by manufacturers of clothing. Continuing, it says:

"Thereafter the factory inspector visited Braun and testified that he ordered him to stop work, but nevertheless the coats from this infected shop were sent to Messrs. Sinsheimer, Levison & Co., the wholesalers, and it was not until April 9, 1835, that the Board of Health procured the goods for fumigation and took them to its fumigating station."

The Committee found it was discretionary with the medical inspectors to stop work, and also that the factory inspectors failed to tag goods as required by law.

It appears, according to the recent of the factory inspectors for the factory inspectors for the living rooms and the workroom.

The employment of child labor is another evil to which the Committee calls attention. The so-called "parents certificates." they say, are in many cases worthless, as the parents are willing to let children under age work and are ready to swear the children are of legal age.

Many of the shops investigated were found to be in a dangerously unsanitary condition, and are being conducted in violation of the law. They add:

"The Committee is not convinced that this condition of affairs is due entirely to inadequate inspection, but believes that it must be due to other causes, and is of the opinion that it can distant in the convert these causes to the satisfaction of the Legislature if further opportunity be had to investigate.

"The Committee likewise finds that the wages of the younger employees are entirely disproportionate to the work done and the number of hours employed. The Committee believes that there are other reusons than the natural one of supply and demand why the wages of young employees are as small as they are.

"Some of these reasons are the minimizing of expense by keeping the premises in a condition contrary to law and by working in tenement-houses contrary to law."

The unreliability of witnesses is shown in the testimony of Nathan Vagier and Nathan Levy.

"In the former case," they say, "Vagler had given up his work as an employes to become an employer, unquestionably to better himself, and yet from his own testimony it appeared that he paid out weekly wages and rent $8.40 more than he received for the goods which he manufactured.

"In the Levy case, it appears, that Levy was prosperous, and had a bank account and yet, according to his own testimony, after he had paid his employees and his rent, he was only able to make $5 cents a week.

"The 'sweat-shop' system, as a whole, is undoubtedly the cause of physical wretchedness, and moral degradation to thousands of women in the city of New York, and it involves for a large number of children a hopeless childheet, initiating them into a still more hopeless adult existence.

"To what extent this system reduces the wages is a grave problem. It brings into competition with the product of the clean, well-regulated workshops and factories the product of unclean and unhealthy shops made cheap because rents are small and labor is less than it would be under proper conditions.

The Committee therefore believe that in justice to the present Assembly and its honorable record it should have further opportunity to carry on its investigations, and make them as searching and earness as the subject demands, and your Committee prays that this request be granted, and that an extension the signing of the bill. On the other side, there was arrayed an opposition quite as formidable. The Mayor of Brooklyn was opposed to it. and protests came from all factions of all parties in Brooklyn, except of course from the Worth gang.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, May 1.—"The Evening World" reporter is informed on the highest authority that Gov. Morton will file with the officers of the Assembly his veto of the Brooklyn Charittes bill which all the influences of the Platt machine has been used to induce the Governor to sign.

The Governor was seriously in doubt about the measure, for he permitted the ten days given him to consider bills passed by the Legislature to elapse

Up to noon the Worth men believed and hoped that he would permit the bill to become a law by default of executive action, but a little later it was whis-pered about that the Governor was pre-paring a veto, and would send it in this afternoon.

The Committee has ascertained that there is a general and constant violation of the factory laws and of the rules and regulations of the Board of Health by persons who employ labor in the shops and tenement-houses of that section of the city known as the downtown east side.
